BIO

CLAK is the evolution of Latin Urban Music! A new musical sub-genre that aims to erase the lines between Urban and Latin Urban music by reimagining the approach to fusing Regional Mexican and Hip-Hop sounds and injecting it with the swagger and culture that is unique to the City of Los Angeles. The music can be described as street anthems that speak to the experiences of growing up in barrios (inner city neighborhoods) across the U.S. and Latin America. Through CLAK, we will build the youth's genre of the future, while developing our true, homegrown and developing talents. These artists are at the beginning of a new era in Urban Regional Mexican music. An era that is translating across the world more seamless than ever before. Markets include USA, Mexico, Chile, and Central America, among others.
